

BEHRING SEA CASE.

It Has Found Its Way
Into Court.

A HEAVY SUIT COMMENCED.

The Trouble in Alabama
Amounts to Nothing.

The Portuguese Troops Ordered
Confined in the Barracks.

The Behring Sea Controversy in the U. S. Supreme Court.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Chief Justice Fuller to-day announced that the Supreme Court had decided to grant the petition of counsel representing the British Government for leave to file application for a writ of prohibition to prevent the District Court of Alaska from proceeding to carry out its decree in the forfeiture made in the case of the schooner Seyward, libeled for unlawfully taking seals within the waters of Behring Sea.

The Court asked counsel at what date the rule requiring the Alaska Court to come here and show cause why the writ of prohibition should not issue, should be made returnable. By mutual agreement the rule was made returnable on the second Monday in April. This settles merely the preliminary question of the right to bring the case into Court, and the matter now to be settled is whether or not the Court will decide that a writ of prohibition should issue. There must now be an argument on the merits of the Behring Sea controversy.

In announcing the determination of the Court, the Chief Justice said that the argument had taken a much wider range than was necessary, and that the Court was of the opinion that it had jurisdiction by way of prohibition under Section 684 of the revised statutes to review the proceedings of the Alaska Court.

Offered Their Services.

By Cable and Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 2.—The leaders of all Monarchist troops have spontaneously and unconditionally offered their services in the support of the Government.

Oporto has been declared in a state of siege for one month. Twenty persons were killed in Saturday's fight.

The Government, in suspecting the discontent in the Oporto garrison, had issued orders for the transfer of several officers there to other regiments. This action, together with the recent imprisonment of the editor of the Republican Portuguese expedited the outbreak.

MADRID, Feb. 2.—On learning of the revolt in Oporto the government here ordered the troops confined in their barracks and other precautions are to be taken on the frontier. The official press urges the governments of Spain and Portugal to be more watchful during democracy.

A Big Suit Commenced.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—A suit was begun in the Superior Court to-day by the Edison General Electric Company against the Electric Rapid Transit Company. The defendants are the owners of the electric railways in Los Angeles, and are now in possession of the electric plant belonging to plaintiff valued at $50,000, and this the Edison Company desires to recover, or, in lieu thereof, its value. Damages in the sums of $30,000 for unlawful detention thereof are also asked for, together with $10,000 which it is claimed was spent in pursuit of the property in question.

Lucky Mrs. Allen.

By Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, Feb. 2.—It is stated that the wife of C. S. Allen of this city has fallen heir to practically the entire business portion of Toledo, Ohio, through the death of her father, Dr. Jones of Boston. When Toledo was nothing more than a trading post, Dr. Jones bought a quarter section of land from the Government in what is now the very heart of Toledo. A deed for this property was found among the papers of the deceased, and the claims of Mrs. Allen will be pushed to secure it.

His Condition.

MASON CITY (Ia.), Feb. 2.—Lieutenant Schwatka spent a comparatively easy night and is improved. He complains of severe pains at the base of the spine. Unless something new develops he will recover.

A New Tariff.

Special to the GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—The German Typographical Union has notified the city and Oakland of a new tariff to enter into effect at the beginning of this afternoon. The charge for night rates has heretofore been fifty cents per thousand ems on all sizes of type. The new tariff provides for a charge of twenty-five cents per one thousand letters of bourgeois type, equal to fifty-three cents per one thousand ems, and ten cents extra per one thousand ems for night work, making the night rate on bourgeois composition sixty-three cents; for minion (night rate), sixty-four cents; nonpareil, sixty-six cents; and agate, seventy cents per one thousand ems.

The new rules also provide that six working days of nine hours each, with one-half of an hour for lunch, shall constitute a week's work. In the new rules no legislation is made against plate matter, which is used by all the German papers in the State except the Democrat.

After the Mormons.

By Cable and Associated Press.

NOTTINGHAM, Feb. 2.—Dissenters in this city and neighborhood have declared a vigorous war against the Mormons. Rev. Mr. Ward, an anti-Mormon missionary delivered a fervid lecture upon the subject last night at South Norhampton, strongest Mormon center in England. Ward declared, during the course of his remarks, that Mormons were as great polygamists as ever. "The Americans," he added, "refuse to harbor English criminals and it was a disgrace to England to allow Mormons to break the English laws. The matter should be submitted to the House of Commons and the Mormons should be compelled to either give up Mormonism or to leave England."

Refused to Submit to a Reduction.

By Associated Press.

READING, Pa.—The Puddlers Brooke Iron Company of Birdsboro, this county, refused to accept the proposed reduction of 25 cents per ton and the rolling mill closed down. About 450 hands are thrown out of employment. The entire iron works of the Ellis and Lessig Steel and Iron Company of Pottstown, shut down to-day, throwing 700 men out of employment. This outlook is the result of the men refusing to accept a reduction in their wages. President Lessig says that the unfavorable and unsatisfactory condition of the iron trade at the present time justifies the reduction. If business brightens the company promises to raise the wages.

Retired Trial of a Wife-Murderer.

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 2.—James Smith, the retiring Chairman of the Transcontinental Association, to-day formally transferred the office to E. H. Vining, his successor. Smith will leave for Kansas City to-night and will preside at a meeting of the Trans-Missouri Association to-morrow in that city.

The trial of Charles F. Vail, on a charge of wife-murder, was begun here this morning. Vail is said to have shot and killed his wife to obtain a large amount of insurance money he had placed on her life. He claims the shooting was accidental.

Still Another Bad Failure.

WINDOM'S FUNERAL.

The Ceremonies Very Touching.

WASHINGTON IN DEEP MOURNING

A Feeling Tribute Paid to the Dead Statesman.

An Elaborate Collection of Floral Offerings.

The Last Rites.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The United States Treasury offices in this city are closed to-day and draped with mourning, as a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Secretary Windom.

Flags were lowered to half-mast on all the public buildings, and on many private houses and dwellings a similar token of mourning can be seen.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The National Capital is truly a city of mourning to-day. The Executive departments and their various branches are closed, and Congress did not assemble until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Flags on all the public buildings are displayed at half-mast; also those of the hotels and business establishments throughout the city, and the large columns of four fronts to the Treasury Department, are heavily draped in black. These honors were paid to the memory of the late Secretary, whose remains were committed to their last resting place to-day.

The Navy Department and Department of Justice are also draped in mourning in honor of ex-Secretary Bancroft and Attorney-General Devens.

The streets in the vicinity of the church where the last rites were performed were crowded with men, women and children, who stood in respectful silence, many of them with bare heads as the mournful cortege passed.

The funeral was simple in character, and without the least attempt at display or ostentation.

The only semblance to military honors was the presence of sixteen members of the Treasury branches of the National Guard, who acted as body bearers, and marched beside the hearse. The civic funeral was so large, however, as to be a striking evidence of the people's great love and esteem for the dead statesman.

During the forenoon the body of the dead Secretary lay in an open casket in the family drawing-room, and wore a calm and peaceful expression. The sombre black covering of the casket was relieved by a profusion of beautiful white flowers in various designs, the tributes of loving friends. On the casket the only decorations were crossed palm leaves and a rope of English violets around the upper edge of the lid.

The floral offerings were beautiful and numerous. The President and Mrs. Harrison sent a large wreath of violets and lilies of the valley, encircled by a band of purple ribbon, crossed with a sheaf of wheat. The Vice-President and Mrs. Morton sent a beautiful wreath of English violets, roses, lilies of the valley and asparagus vine; Secretary and Mrs. Blaine, Easter lilies and palms; Fred Brackett, white roses and asparagus vines; the Secretary of the Navy, a cluster of brides' roses, palms and asparagus vine; the Union League Club of Minneapolis, cross of roses and lilies of the valley, with wreath of violets; Secretary and Mrs. Rusk, a wreath of roses and lilies with ferns; the Governor of Minnesota and Mrs. Merriam, a bunch of calla lilies; Mrs. Lewis Washington, for the ladies of the Mount Vernon Association, a design of palms and roses with lilies of the valley; the officers and employees of the register's office of the Treasury Department, a floral fac-simile of the Treasury seal, and a representation of the scales and a key.

The house was thrown open to the public between 8 and 11 o'clock, during which time there was a constant stream of people passing through. At the latter hour the house was closed to visitors, and after a brief religious service was held, conducted by Rev. Dr. Hamlin, pastor of the Church of the Covenant. These services were private, the only persons present being members of the afflicted family, near relatives, the President, Vice-President and members of the Cabinet with their ladies.

The funeral services at the Church of the Covenant began at 12 o'clock, and, while exceedingly simple, they were profoundly impressive. The attendance comprised all the leading officials in Washington and their families, including the President and his Cabinet, the Diplomatic Corps, Justices of the Supreme Court and of the Court of Claims, Senators, Representatives and officers of the army and navy and the Ohio Society of New York were also represented. The church was crowded and there was an immense crowd surrounding it that could not gain entrance. The church was devoid of decoration except that many beautiful floral pieces previously mentioned were tastefully arranged in front of the pulpit platform. The pew formerly occupied by the deceased was heavily draped in mourning.

The services consisted of singing by a quartette and a number of prayers. Dr. Hamlin then reviewed the dead statesman's life, portraying how, while following a farmer's life, Windom's course through the House and Senate, paying high eulogies to his ability as a Senator and Representative. At the conclusion of the church services the remains were conveyed to Rock Creek Cemetery, and there interred.

The Chilean War.

By Cable and Associated Press.

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 2.—Reports have reached here of another engagement off Ancud, the Capital island of Chile, in Chileo Archipelago. The battle was fought between the Government men-of-war and an insurgents' war vessel. It resulted in the defeat of the insurgents.

The supposed vessels engaged were the two ships previously referred to as the rebel vessel which landed the insurgent marines at Ancud, and the Government ship which tried to land troops at that port under the disguise of hoisting the British flag. Communication with Santiago de Chile, the Capital of Chile and other towns which have been temporarily reestablished have again been interrupted.

The California Legislature.

Striking Printers.

Special to the GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—A strike of about thirty printers occurred this morning in Crocker & Co.'s office. The apprenticeship rules and scale of prices for overwork were made a basis of the complaint by the printers. Two policemen were stationed at Crocker & Co.'s this morning, but there was no disturbance.

The firm say that enough hands remained at work to prevent the work from coming to a standstill.

Prior to the strike this morning Crocker & Co. sent a letter to the Executive Committee of the Printers Union requesting a statement of their grievances. In response to the request a communication was prepared stating that for some time past complaints had been brought to the executive officers of the Union that they were being constantly indulged in; that there has been a constant friction between those in authority and the employees, and that individual employees were prevented from presenting their grievances to the head of the firm under penalty of discharge. The statement also deals at length with the apprentice question and the difference regarding the scale of prices.

The men will be provided for during the strike, and an assessment of $3 on each member of the Union has already been levied. During the trouble each married striker is to receive $12 per week, and each unmarried man $10 per week. All apprentices who joined the men in the strike that were getting over $9 a week will be paid that amount, and the others the full amount of their wages.

Temperance Meeting.

All interested in temperance work are invited to attend the regular meeting of the Club at Thompson's Hall, Monday, Feb. 2d, at 7:30 p. m. An interesting program will be presented. By order of the President. 3t

Several years ago Chamberlain & Co., of Des Moines, Iowa, commenced the manufacture of a cough syrup, believing it to be the most prompt and reliable preparation yet produced for coughs, colds and croup; that the public appreciate true merit, and in time it was considered one of the most valuable remedies ever known. Their most sanguine hopes have been more than realized. Over three hundred thousand bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy are now sold every year, and it is recognized as "the best made," wherever known. It cures a severe cold in less time than any other treatment. For sale by Shoemaker & Co., druggist.

There is no danger of a cold resulting in pneumonia when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used as directed "for a severe cold." It effectually counteracts and arrests any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. This fact was fully proven in thousands of cases during the epidemic of influenza last winter. For sale by Shoemaker & Co., druggists.

The Pulpit and the Stage.

Rev. F. M. Shurt, pastor of United Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kansas, says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased, and my parishioners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 30 pounds in weight."

Arthur Love, Manager Love's Funny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption beats 'em all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my many thousands of friends is to use them to try it. Free trial bottles at W. P. King's drug store. Regular sizes 50c and $1."

How to Break up a Severe Cold.

From the Virginia City, Mont. Madisonian. When we find a medicine we know to possess genuine merit, we consider it a duty, and we take pleasure in telling the public what it is. Such a medicine we found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. By the use of this syrup we have relieved, in a few hours, severe colds, and in the course of two or three days, entirely broken them up as have several of our friends to whom we have recommended it. It is all it is represented to be by the manufacturers. If you have a cough and want to stop it, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will do the work. Sold by Shoemaker & Co., druggists.

SATURDAY'S MEETING.

A Good Deal of Talk But No Conclusion Reached.

Adjourned to Meet Again Next Saturday Night.

The tax payers generally turned out at the meeting Saturday night to discuss the economic measure now agitating the public mind. The discussion took a wide range, and the debaters rambled considerably, but the GAZETTE was glad to see the interest the people took in public office. The meeting was called to order by the Hon. G. W. Baker, who suggested that W. O. H. Martin should act as Chairman. Mr. Martin was elected and took the chair. On motion of Hon. R. S. Osburn Allen C. Bragg was chosen Secretary. Mr. Martin stated the object of the meeting, and said he was ready to entertain any motion made.

SENATOR EMMETT.

Was called for and stated that our representatives in the Legislature had called the meeting for the purpose of getting the sentiment of the community on needed legislation. He named over several important measures that had been introduced, and said the delegation would like an expression of the people. Among them he named the Constitutional Convention question, the Australian ballot law, the 12 o'clock closing law and a State Board of Equalization.

Hon. G. W. Baker was called for and said that he was a new comer in the county, was not a heavy tax-payer, but that he had taken occasion, both in and out of season, to express his views on the questions suggested by Senator Emmett, and that the people knew very well where he stood. He was at a loss to know why our representatives should come here to inquire what they should do in relation to a Constitutional Convention, when the question was carried by over 1400 at the last election. He said he was in favor of a

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION. And thought it a mistake to have a low valuation of property in the several counties of this State. He thought the passage of a law providing for a State Board of Equalization would have a good effect, and do more to restore confidence in the State than anything else that could happen. He was also in favor of a law providing for the semi-annual payment of taxes, and believed it would be less burdensome to the people to pay their taxes twice a year instead of once. He was also opposed to the repeal of the 12 o'clock closing law, and with an expression of these views he would yield the floor to some of the heavier taxpayers.

Gen. C. C. Powning was called for and took the floor. Mr. Powning said he thought that he had retired from public life, but it seemed otherwise. He agreed with Mr. Baker's views on everything but a State Board of Equalization. If he felt certain that the county of Washoe would get her rights he might favor such a Board. He did not believe, however, that she could, and that she would suffer from the passage of such a law. He said Washoe had been called

THE CRADLE OF REFORM. But be that as it may, he thought such a Board would be under the influence of the monied powers of the State; but if it could be proven that such would not be the case, he would favor a State Board of Equalization. He was most decidedly opposed to the repeal of the 12 o'clock closing law; that vice should not be encouraged in the rising generation by expunging it from the statutes. Continuing, Mr. Powning said that Washoe was second in everything that does to make up one of the fourteen counties in this State and that he was in favor of a re-apportionment so that she could get her rights. He favored the passage of a law applicable to Washoe county by which she could provide herself with public parks. He said that in his judgment $2,500 spent in that way now would do much towards building up many more happy homes in Reno. He was in favor of consolidating county offices and said in his opinion that some of the salaries could be reduced and leave us just as well off.

Hon. R. H. Kinney also wanted to call attention to the subject of consolidating county offices, and would like to know if the people favored anything of the kind. Hon. H. H. Beck was called for and said: If he should talk in proportion to the length of time he had lived in Washoe he would be talking after his audience had gone home and gone to bed. He thought it the duty of the people to get together in their own interest. Mr. Beck said he thought every one who had been in attendance at the several meetings held knew his feelings. He was satisfied that a good many thought that it was in the power of the Legislature to change the laws so that the laborer would get $9 per day, the price of beef go up and good crops be assured. In regard to the theory of Mr. Kinney, in relation to the consolidation of county offices, he thought it unwise to consolidate, but that he would reduce the salaries so that they would be

COMMENSURATE WITH THE LABOR Performed. He did not see why a good clerk in a store should be paid $75 per month and a county officer receive a salary of $150 per month when the clerk did the most work. In his opinion the School Trustees of a district were the most efficient officers in the county, and they served without compensation. In regard to the 12 o'clock closing law, Mr. Beck said he fully agreed with those who had already spoken, and that he would make the hour 10 o'clock sooner than repeal the law. Touching the question of a State Board of Equalization,

Mr. Beck said it was a serious question to decide, but that he was inclined to think as Mr. Powning did; that it would be a bad move for Washoe. He said the Board of Trade was doing its best to invite people to come to the State and was engaged in an honest endeavor to build up, and should be encouraged. He said that our State government was very extravagant and far in excess of what the original framers of our constitution intended it should be, and that for the past twelve years we had been going from bad to worse, until it was time to call a halt. He said no community on the inhabited globe were laboring under such a burden of taxation as the people of Nevada; that the 40,000 people in this State were paying a greater tax than the people of Ohio, Iowa, Oregon, and in fact any State in the Union.

Hon. T. J. Bell of Lander was called on and said he had come down to confer with the

BOARD OF REGENTS

On the subject of establishing a laboratory in connection with the State University. He explained his position on the question of establishing a State Board of Equalization and said he favored it. That he should certainly vote for keeping the 12 o'clock closing law just where it is. He said that he thought the subject of establishing a State Laboratory at the University, a question that would interest the people of this State more than any other; that while the State had been thoroughly prospected for gold and silver but little was known of its other mineral resources. He entered into quite a lengthy discussion of the subject and was attentively listened to.

Dr. Dawson offered the following resolution which was UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that our representatives in the Legislature should use every honorable means to prevent the repeal of the twelve o'clock closing law.

J. M. Fulton said that both he and the people he represented were opposed to a State Board of Equalization and a Constitutional convention, and criticized Mr. Beck's remarks quite sharply. T. V. Julian said a meeting of this kind was very difficult, for there was no question before the House, but if there was any particular measure that attention could be directed to, he would be perfectly willing to discuss it. But he managed to get in his work against a reduction of salaries and talked about the good times to come for Nevada when we could afford to buy the Governor a pair of high heeled boots, and finally wound up by discussing the water law at length and said the water storage question he considered of more consequence than a reduction of the State or county offices. He thought irrigation districts should be formed and controlled by private capital. He was very much opposed to a Constitutional convention.

At this stage of the proceedings Mr. Bragg offered the following resolution: WHEREAS, The Legislature has been in session for thirteen days without accomplishing anything, therefore be it

Resolved, That our representatives in the Senate and Assembly be and are hereby instructed to use all honorable means in their power to have the Legislature call a Constitutional Convention, provide for the election of delegates and make such other provisions for submitting the work to the people at the earliest possible day.

Mr. Julien moved to amend by striking out the preamble and adopting the resolution, which was carried. H. L. Fish favored a reduction of the salaries of State officials, and a Constitutional Convention, and thought men could be chosen to frame a new organic law more in keeping with our present condition, and after

UNMERCIFULLY SCORING

The Supreme Court he took his seat. W. L. Knox introduced and favored the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that our representatives in the Legislature should use every honorable means to secure the passage of what is known as the Australian ballot law, as modified by the Massachusetts ballot law. The resolution was finally adopted as read.

George Alt moved that our Senators and Assemblymen be instructed to sustain the so-called Oberly law, and after a lengthy discussion of the subject by Hon. G. W. Baker, G. W. Maps and T. V. Julian, the motion was voted down.

G. W. Maps opposed a semi-annual payment of taxes and a Board of Equalization, and discussed the proposition at some length.

Dr. Hogan said he considered the water storage question one of

PARAMOUNT INTEREST

To this county and the State at large. He thought Mr. Newlands should be reimbursed for the money he has expended on the upper waters of the Truckee, and that the people should own their own water. The doctor took a very sensible view of the situation, and delivered an interesting speech on the subject, which no doubt will be further discussed at the meeting Saturday night.

It now being nearly 12 o'clock and every one tired, on motion of Mr. Holesworth the meeting adjourned, to meet at the same place next Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

Amusements.

As this is the first appearance of the Eunice Goodrich Company in Reno, the manager offers a special inducement for the opening performance, a reserved seat ticket admitting a lady free to Thursday night's performance to each purchaser of a 50-cent ticket, if bought at Sam Hodgkinson's before 6 p. m. Thursday. Our object is to reach the leading ladies of Reno and by so doing reach the general theater goers, as we desire to convince the better class of citizens that a first-class performance can be given at reduced admissions.

Grand Clearance Sale.

The Palace Dry Goods and Carpet House advertises in a double half column their fifth annual clearance sale of dry goods and offer some splendid bargains. The goods must positively be sold to make room for a new stock and the public will do well to remember the sale commenced this morning, and give them a call. Read ad.

Mr. Nichols is running his creamery yet and making 30 pounds a day, now.

Death of H. A. Hutchinson.

H. A. Hutchinson, a partner of John Michaels in the Union Iron Works, died last evening of Bright's disease. Mr. Hutchinson was an eccentric man and but little is known of his business affairs or of his family relations. He was a member of De Witt Clinton Command, Knights Templar, of Virginia, and they have been notified of his death. His partner, Mr. Michaels, who is on a visit to the Eastern States, has also been telegraphed to. It is supposed that Mr. Hutchinson left an estate variously estimated to be worth between $25,000 and $80,000.

A Good Move.

The Reno Lumber Company will open an office down town in the First National Bank annex building this week and intend putting in a stock of paints, oils, wall paper and general building material. The Company's constantly growing business seems to demand this, and they will hereafter be prepared to furnish everything required in the building line.

Protect Your Health.

Cold and moisture combined have a most potent effect on the bodily organs, and the digestive and secretory processes are apt to be more tardily performed in winter than in the fall. The same is true, also, of the excretory functions. The bowels are often sluggish, and the pores of the skin throw off but little waste matter at this season. The system, therefore, requires opening up a little, and also purifying and regulating, and the safest, surest and most thorough tonic and alternative that can be used for these purposes is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Persons who wish to escape the rheumatic twinges, the dyspeptic agonies, the painful disturbances of the bowels, the bilious attacks, and the nervous irritations, so common at this time of the year, will do well to reinforce their system with this renowned vegetable purifier and invigorant. It improves the appetite, strengthens the stomach, cheers the spirits, and renovates the whole physique.

PERSONALS.

HE WAS ASHAMED

To Ask Again, but His Frank Letter Got It for Him.

A few months ago one of the unfortunate inmates in the San Francisco Alms-house was inspired by the sensational statements in the newspapers with the belief that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla would help him. But without money, how to get it was the question. Finally he wrote to the Edwin W. Joy Co., appealing to their generosity, and it was not unheeded, the coveted preparation being sent by the next parcel delivery. Its effect is best told in a subsequent letter, from which we quote the following:—"I suppose you know me by this writing, and my circumstances and condition. Although improving, I ask of your generosity for another bottle of your Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Its laxative action is perfection itself. It has so thoroughly regulated my system that my catarrh, rheumatism, constipation, and headaches are all better. I feel ashamed to ask in this way, but what shall I do? I thought I might not need any more, but I am now anxious to keep it up; but you see how it is."

It was sent, and he can get more if he needs it.

Headache and Dyspepsia.

Wm. E. Rockwell, No. 612 West 57th street, New York, says: "I have been a martyr to bilious headache and dyspepsia. And indigestion in diet, over fatigue, or cold, brings on a fit of indigestion, to be followed by a headache lasting two or three days at a time. I think I must have tried over twenty different remedies, which were recommended as certain cures by loving friends, but it was no use. It last I thought I would take a simple course of purgation with Brandreth's Pills. For the first week I took two pills every night, then one pill for thirty nights; in that time I gained three pounds in weight and never had an ache or pain since." Disease in one part of the body will eventually fill the whole body with disease. Every year or two some part of the system grows weak and begins to decay. Such part should be removed at once, and new matter be allowed to take its place. There's no need of cutting it out with a surgeon's scalpel. Purge away the old, diseased and worn out parts with Brandreth's Pills.

The Problem Solved.—An Unrivalled Blood Purifier.

Found at last in Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup.—A remedy which expels all poisonous matter and taints of disease from the blood. A well known citizen of West Lebanon, Ind., testifies to its value. GENTLEMEN: It affords me pleasure to state that my wife has received greater benefit from Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup than from any medicine she has ever taken. We have used six bottles, and find it the best family remedy and the greatest blood purifier we have ever used. It is truly all that is claimed to be by its founder. You cannot recommend it to highly. Yours truly, FRANK WILKINSON.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TALK IS CHEAP,
and the press teems with advertisements of arsenapills, and other liver, blood and lung remedies, but there is one medicine, and only one, the claims for which, as a cure for all lingering diseases arising from Torpid Liver or Biliousness, or from impure blood, are backed up by a positive guarantee! If it does not do just as represented in every case, the money paid for it is promptly refunded.

This peculiar medicine sells beyond all others throughout the civilized world, and why should it not? "Talk is cheap," but when it's backed up by a positive guarantee, by a house of long established reputation, for honesty, integrity and sound financial standing, then words mean business! And that's just what the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., mean in guaranteeing their Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery checks the frightful throats of Scrofula, and if taken in time, arrests the march of Consumption of the Lungs (which is Lung-Scrofula), purifies and enriches the blood, thereby curing all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Ulcers, Sores, Swellings, and kindred ailments.

THE GIRL FOR ME.

Has ever seen a little girl Who wears merry eyes and glossy curls Would set the dearest heart a-chirp! Well, that's the girl for me.

A girl that's lovely every way. Who doesn't give for more displeasure. But gives thro' love. Again I say That's the girl for me.

Her aims bestowed with gentle grace Doth beautify her gentle face, The gentlest of her gentle race, A very lovely girl.

Performs her father's least demand, And with some friends has joined a band Whose mission 'tis to lend a hand, So sweet a girl is she.

She uses every moment so That whether weal or whether woe They're always better, those who know This charming girl of mine.

And when her loving arms I see Her captive I would long to be, For certainly she would not me The dearest girl of all.

Has ever seen this little girl Who wears merry eyes and glossy curls, Who sets the dearest heart a-chirp! Well, she's the girl for me.

—Harold McGill Davis, in Brooklyn Eagle.

HANDY WITH FRACTIONS.

Alan's Uncle's Experiences With Applied Mathematics.

"I can do any example in fractions," said Alan the other evening as he experimented with the cat to see if he could hold that patient animal near enough to the grate fire so that its hair would shrivel without any marked protest from pussy.

"Indeed," said uncle, indulgently, lacing his fingers across his waistband and extending his feet toward the fire: "I used to be quite handy with fractions myself. In fact, I excelled in mathematics. Your poor father, now, had no faculty for them. It is singular how diversified talents are in the same family, singular, indeed."

"Henry was considered the best mathematician in his class," said Alan's mother, with a little frown.

"In pure mathematics, Mary, in pure mathematics, only," responded uncle; "but in the applied article he was lamentably weak."

What Alan's mother might have replied to this was lost in interest in Alan's experiment in which the cat suddenly ceased to be a passive agent. By and by, when Alan had bathed the scratches on his hand and convinced himself that the wound on his ear was only a superficial one, he said: "Give me an example, uncle."

"Certainly," said uncle, affably: "add two-thirds and four-fifths and subtract one-seventh."

Alan worked away for a minute and then asked: "What is the answer, uncle?"

"Er—I think you had better let me see how you have done it, my boy. That will do you more good. Um—ah—35, no, 105—yes, to be sure. Why, no; the one-seventh is to be subtracted. Fifteen, 10, 12, 23, seven over; that makes one and seven-fifteenths. Now let's see—yes, 105. How will that come out? Yes, that's right—one and thirty-four-hundredths—quite right."

Alan, who have the answer, only your way of doing it is a little peculiar."

"It took you a long time to do it, uncle."

"Yes, the light was bad. I couldn't see the figures very well. You could improve on your figures, Alan."

"Give me another, uncle, please. Make up a tough one, can't you?"

"All right. John and James—you'd better write this down—John and James had 30 cents between them. John bought three apples at 1 1/2 cents each. James bought a jack-knife with four blades; for the big blade he paid 4 cents; for the little blade, 1 1/2 cents; for the file blade, 5 cents; and for the blade with a nick in it, 3 1/2 cents, and for the handle twice as much. How much money did they have left?"

"Twice as much as what?"

"Twice as much as—why twice as much as for the little blade, of course. That is what I said. Now, how much did they have left?"

"Nobody ever bought a knife that way."

"Probably not, but that is applied mathematics, applying principles to everyday transactions such as you will engage in when you get older. Still, that is a little too far along for you?"

"Oh! I can do it easy enough," said Alan, and he went to work. In a few minutes he began to look puzzled; then he asked: "What do you want to know?"

"How much they had left?"

The puzzled look grew as the figures multiplied. "Why," said the boy, finally, "they wouldn't have any thing left. They would owe, or James would owe, 156 cents on the knife, or John would have to give up some of the apples."

"Eh?" said uncle, with a start; "how's that?"

Alan turned the leaves of his arithmetic and then read: "A father left his eldest son three-sevenths of his estate, his youngest son four-sevenths of the remainder, and his daughter the remainder, who received $1,734 1/4 less than the youngest son; what was the value of the estate?"

"Please read that over again," said uncle, nervously. Alan did so.

"Well, the first thing to do," said uncle, "is to find out what is the value of the estate."

"That's the last thing in the book."

"Eh? I am afraid I did not understand the example. You should learn to read more plainly, young sir."

Alan read the example again and uncle said: "Oh, yes, I see. Please get me some paper and a pencil; you might get several sheets of paper so we will be sure to have enough."

While Alan was getting the paper uncle said: "You don't mind my lighting a pipe, do you, Mary?"

"I can always work better when I'm smoking. It's a habit I've acquired in college. It seems to brighten my reasoning faculties."

"Not at all," sweetly said the lady addressed. "I believe the reasoning faculties should be as bright as possible."

Uncle did not say anything in reply; in fact, it was some time before he uttered a word. Then he looked up from a sheet of paper crowded with figures and said, impatiently: "There never was an estate in the world divided in such an idiotic fashion. A man who would make such a will would be declared insane in any court on earth, and the will would be broken."

"Perhaps that is pure mathematics," suggested a voice behind the paper. Uncle broke his pencil point in some way just then, and when Alan sharpened it he got up on his knees in the chair, with his feet tucked under him, and took a fresh sheet of paper. When that was nearly covered he said: "There! there's your answer: $1,324 1/4-77, and a pretty small estate that is to put into an arithmetic."

"Why, uncle," said Alan. "I don't see how that can be, for the daughter got $1,734 1/4."

"What kind of an arithmetic is this, any way?" growled uncle. "It's an outrage to make such books. When I was a boy we had sensible school books and—"

"That is your old arithmetic, Robert," said the lady behind the paper. "When I found they were using that kind, I told Alan he might as well take yours as to buy a new one."

Uncle got down from his chair, walked slowly around the table, climbed up again.

"Is that to change your luck, uncle?" asked Alan. "They say it will do it."

"Mary," said uncle, indignantly, "you ought not to let Alan get such vulgar superstitions into his head. Mathematics, sir, are not to be conquered by luck."

Fresh sheets of paper were taken and a maze of figures grew under uncle's hand. Around the edge of his paper Alan's mother saw experiments in proportion, alligation, arithmetical progression, and here and there a dash of algebra. The domain of mathematics was ransacked from center to circumference, and victory came at last. "That estate," said uncle, impressively, "was worth exactly $2,111 12-32, and he said it in the tone of a man ready to fight if his word was disputed."

"I presume that is right," said Alan. "Any way, that is the answer in the book. Now here is an easy one—at least, our teacher says it is easy," and he read:

"If 30 men in 21 days, by working 10 hours a day, can dig a trench 30 feet long, 16 feet wide, and 12 feet deep, when the ground is called 5 degrees of hardness, how many men in 25 days, by working 8 hours a day, can dig another trench 45 feet long, 16 feet wide, and 14 feet deep, when the ground is estimated at 5 degrees of hardness?"

As step by step the features of this problem were presented to uncle, that gentleman shipped further down into his chair. When the voice of the reader stopped, he looked like nothing in the world so much as Grandfather Smallweed, if that amiable old person could be imagined as deprived of even the presence of the "Drumstone Cat." The eyes of Alan's mother appeared over the paper and the abject appeal they saw in uncle's eyes could not be resisted.

"Alan," she said, "it is your bedtime. Uncle is tired."

Alan gathered up his books, kissed his mother, bade the figure in the chair good-night, and said cheerfully: "We'll try pure mathematics next time, uncle."

"Society" Disappearing.

In this democratic nineteenth century, "society," in the old and aristocratic sense of the term, is disappearing. People of a certain class and certain means do certain things at certain times because other people of the same class and the same means do likewise.

There is a universal tendency toward the equalization of luxury and of the exterior manifestations of refinement. Social habits are formed on the models established by two or three great centers of civilization, and all the life that you find elsewhere is a more or less pale reflection of the real article. With the increase of facilities of communication originality of all kinds decreases, and the search for local color becomes more and more hopeless.—Theodore Child, in Harper's Magazine.
